St Paul's Way Trust School, as part of the University Schools Trust is seeking to appoint an exceptionally well qualified and talented Higher Education Coordinator. This is an outstanding opportunity for a talented professional to take responsibility for supporting students across the whole school with the most up to date and relevant careers education, information and guidance. The successful candidate will offer students outstanding support to empower them to realise their full potential and life ambitions.

The successful candidate will be an excellent communicator, who will network with a wide range of education, employment and training providers. You will be highly organised and capable of inspiring students' aspirations. You will have the opportunity to join an Ofsted Outstanding school, from which 99.5% of students successfully progress into sustained education, employment and training at post 16 and 98% of students' progress to university at post 18.

St Paul's Way Trust has developed a reputation for doing things differently and with good reason. The combination of world leading Universities and Corporate Trust partners collaborating with talented and ambitious teachers, support staff and educational leaders has transformed provision and opened up remarkable opportunities for our young people and staff.

St Paul's Way Trust School, a National Teaching School – outstanding in every Ofsted category, now moves into its next exciting phase of expansion as the founding school in the newly formed 'University School's Trust', a Multi-Academy Trust led by Queen Mary University of London as its lead sponsor.

Our award winning new building is situated in the heart of East London. Professor Brian Cox OBE is our Patron.

If you would like to play your part in delivering outstanding provision for our students, whilst receiving the very best support to develop your career, then we would very much like to hear from you.
