We are proud to be a local community school that gives our students the best possible start in life. Our school community is amazingly diverse with more than 50 home languages spoken. Our inclusive ethos is characterised by a striking culture of mutual respect and support. We have strong partnerships with local schools and colleges and are involved in many community projects. Students from a wide range of backgrounds are welcomed and flourish within a safe and caring environment. We plan learning experiences that closely meet their needs and excite them. Their views on teaching and their learning are listened to, and we act on these to continuously improve our provision.

There is a broad and interesting extra-curricular programme on offer to all students. Students are encouraged to engage and explore, and our Artsmark Award reflects the range and quality of creative activities they can access. There are many opportunities to take on responsibility and we have an active student leadership team who play a real role in helping shape the direction of the school. Our partnerships with parents and carers are key to the happiness and success of our students. We value highly the support we receive from our parents and carers, and pride ourselves on the work we do with them to keep their children safe, happy and achieving well.

We celebrate success and ensure that parents and carers are kept informed about their child's progress throughout their time with us. Sometimes students need some additional support to flourish and manage themselves effectively and we are committed to working closely with students and their families to develop strategies to help them fulfil their potential, overcoming any challenges to their happiness, learning and progress.

“ Thank you Willowfield for going above and beyond to help my child – I see teachers at the gate every day and I know they care about my child. ”

The school is in Walthamstow, a vibrant and diverse area in north east London in the London Borough of Waltham Forest. Historically Walthamstow was a rural village, but it grew rapidly during the 19th and 20th centuries due to the expansion of London's railway network. Today it is a bustling urban area with a rich culture and artistic scene as well as plenty of green spaces and local amenities. In recent years it has undergone significant redevelopment including the opening of a new cinema complex and the regeneration of several public spaces.

Transport links are excellent, with the school being just a few minutes' walk from Blackhorse Road Underground Station on the Victoria Line. This line runs from Brixton in south London to Walthamstow Central through four major transport hubs: Vauxhall, Victoria, Euston and Kings Cross. Blackhorse Road is also on the London Overground orbital railway.
